

REPORT OF G. T. PURDY

September 3rd, 1926.

Investigation of Jane Gibson alias Eisleitner,
Easton, Ray and Hilton.

Operative went to Bayonne, New Jersey, this A.M. and made an investigation at the address of 187 Broadway. Made several inquiries about the former occupant of this building a Mrs. Williams. This store is now conducted by G. Bozzo as a candy and soda store. This man rented the house from Mrs. Jenny Easton who was the owner at that time, 1908. This man informed me that Mrs. Easton purchased the building from the Annett-Mahmken Realty Company of 27 West 8th Street, Bayonne. After Mrs. Easton moved from this house she sold the building back to this Realty Company.

Operative interviewed several people in this vicinity. They state that they know very little about Mrs. Easton. She did not mingle much with the people in the vicinity. She also did dress-making and in the rear yard, kept chickens, pigeons and rabbits. She lived here with a man named Easton. Could not find anybody who knew him very well or knew very much about him.

Operative then called on the Annett-Mahmken Realty Company and interviewed Mr. Annett. He stated that he sold the house at 187 Broadway to Mrs. Williams and in 1908 purchased the house back from her. They also knew her sister well as she rented a house at 273 Avenue C from them and they had to dispossess her. She later got into a house at 51 Avenue C under an assumed name, unknown to them. When they found it was the same tenant that they had in 273 they again dispossessed her. This time her name was known as Mrs. McGill. Mr. Annett stated that he was a personal friend of Mr. McCarter and that Mr. McCarter handled some law suits for him a number of years ago. He did not like to talk to me about the matter and said that if Mr. McCarter
